

Department History

The Department of Information Technologies operates under the IT Deccan faculty. The department provides education in modern programming, artificial intelligence, data analytics, computer systems, and other advanced areas.

The department has achieved the following milestones:

- 2005 – Department was established
- 2010 – First Master's programs launched
- 2015 – Scientific laboratories were created
- 2020 – AI Center began operations

Together, the department continues to prepare future digital leaders and innovators.